**Combining Armiset Democratic Bule.

Earmest efforts have been made to keep West Virginia Republicans and Greenbackers apart this year. The coalition of these forces in 1884 came so near defeating the Democracy that the managers of that party are determined to permit no more of it if they can have their way. This year they have endeavered to prevent the two forces from acting together, hoping by that course to strengthen their own Legislative and Congressional District

If all the voters, in West Virginia who do not favor Democratic rule will stand solidly together there will soon be no Democratic rule in West Virginia, The good time coming is almost here.

The Democratic brothren in the neigh boring Twenty-First Congressional District of Pennsylvania, are in a state of mind-a hand in the primaries, feel that they have been grossly wronged, and the popular feeling of the party seems to be with them. The feeling throughout the dis. trict is intense, and notice has been served on Mr. Raiferty, that unless he steps aside to let the locomotive pars, he will be run over and badly mangled.

A case can be imagined in which it would be advisable to go outside of a district for a nomineo for Congress. The English plan of taking the strong men wherever they can be found has some things to recommend it. But Mr. Rafferty will not be a strong nominee, nor would he be a strong Representative in Congress. There is nothing to justify his selection and it is not probable that he can hold enough of the big Democratic majority to elect him. Congressman Boyle has given notice to Mr. Rafferty that he will defeat him if he can.

Every day can be seen the degrading and disgusting spectacle of a drunken man or woman being dragged to the lockup by a couple of policemen, or wheeled through the streets in a barrow, followed by an admiring crowd of boys and girls, the very air being polluted with profanity and obscenity.

We are informed that Mr. McMillan who has made a partial canvass of Roans Jackson and Mason counties, found a strong sentiment among Greenbackers favoring the incorsement of Mr. Hutchinson, the Republican nominee, on the grounds that the Republicans in 1884 had, almost to a man, supported Colonel Barbee, Greenbacker, in accordance with the agreement made by the respective committees of the two parties, and for these reasons McMillan will withdraw from the field in favor of Mr. Hutchinson. We were a participant in the proceed-ings of the committees referred to, and ings of the committees referred to, and candor requires as to say that an agreement was had to the effect that, on condition of the Republicons supporting Col. Barbee for congress in 1884, the Greenback committee were to support the Republican candidate, were he not an objectionable man, in 1886. Two of the members of our committee dissented to the contraction of the contraction of the committee of the contraction of other than the favors the reclamation of all uncarned rairoad grants of the land, the Democratic managers thought they had the Greenback party by the tail and could wiggle it to suit themselves. A Greenbacker was placed in nomination in the Fourth District, but the Greenbackers incline kindly toward the Republican nominee and are dispected to stand by the compact of two years ago. In any event Hutchinson will have a strong Greenback support—stronger, of course, if the Greenbackes of the upperback nominee is out of the way.

In 1881 the Republicans of the Fourth District nominated Barbee, a Confederate soldier and a Greenbacker. Ho was eurossily supported by Republicans, The agreement at that time was that in 1886 the Greenbackers would give as loyal and earnest support to a Republican.
